WALTER AUSTIN HAS MADE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE

Son of Former Maysville Man, Who Came From Family of Patriots, Falls on French Battlefield.

Mrs. Fannie Carver, of Commerce street, Saturday received a letter from her brother, Charles P. Austin, of Madisonville, announcing that his son, Walter S. Austin, had been killed in action in France on July 15.

Young Mr. Austin was 19 years of age. He volunteered in the United States Marines the day that Congress declared war on the Imperial German government and has been in France for several months. Only a few weeks ago he was gassed by the Germans but after a very short time in the hospital he again faced the enemy this time to make the supreme sacrifice for his country.

The young man comes from a family of patriots which has been represented in most every war since the war in defense of the declaration of independence. His father's great grandfather, Phillip Rice, fought in the Revolutionary war. His father's grandfather, Hudson Rice fought in the war of 1812. Three uncles fought in the Civil War and he now has two brothers in the present conflict, Corporal Charles D. Austin, Engineers' Corps in Italy and William C. Austin, Ordnance Department of the British Expeditionary forces.

The young man's parents were former residents of Maysville and their many friends here extend them their sympathies in this great loss.

DAN PETERS DEAD

Dan Peters, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peters, of the Washington neighborhood, died at his father's home early Sunday morning after a long illness of tuberculosis. Funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Rose of Lima Church, Mayslick, and burial will be in the Washington cemetery.

We Who Are Now Growing

Slightly bald and reminiscent often wonder if ever again will come back the days of ten-cent beefsteak and three-dollar pants; the days of twelve-cent eggs and real butter at twenty cents the pound—a pound that slammed the scale beam up with a vicious thud instead of a wavering hesitant, timid, weak and snail-like pace to where it lightly kisses the bar and then limply recedes, two ounces short.

Probably not, and the only thing for us to do is to adjust ourselves as best we can to changed conditions. Things are high but crops and great labor is being well paid. So, let's smile,—all smile,—and remember the Square Deal Man's on Square Deal Square, "God's in his high heaven and all's right with the world."

ENROLLMENT IN NURSE RESERVE THIS WEEK

Enrollment Cards Have Arrived and Young Ladies Desiring to Join This Volunteer Band Will Be Given Opportunity This Week.

It was announced Saturday afternoon by the Women's Council of National Defense for this county that the necessary enrollment blanks which had been holding up the campaign had arrived and that plans were being made to hold the enrollment this week.

Literature and application blanks may be secured from Mrs. Frank Clarke, Miss Louise Best and Mrs. George Barbour, who are handling the campaign as a special committee of the Women's committee, Council of National Defense.

These women propose to enroll all applicants on Thursday of this week from 10 to 12 a. m. and on Friday from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Considerable interest has been shown in the campaign by many young ladies of this county and it is thought that quite a number will at least investigate and several should enlist in this war work.

NEWCOMB-RUSSELL

Miss Louise Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newcomb, of Ripley, and Mr. Walter L. Russell, of the same place, were married at the home of the bride's parents Saturday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. A. L. South of the Ripley Presbyterian Church. Miss Mary Esther Boone, of Topeka, Kans., the ring bearer, was the only attendant. The couple left for Maysville directly after the wedding by machine and from here left for a week's bridal trip. Mr. J. I. Salsbury and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Matthews of this city, were in attendance.

FISMES FALLS TO ALLIES AND HUNS FLEE ON

Allies Cross Aisne in Pursuit of Enemy—Number of Prisoners Captured Will Thrill World When Issued.

With the American Army on Aisne-Marne Front, August 4—The town of Fismes was taken late today by the American troops, supported by the French.

The French are across the Aisne at several points to the eastward and the line has been extended northwest of Rheims to La Neuville. The Germans are resisting sharply from Muzon to Champigny.

Fismes was taken after a heavy artillery fight that began in the middle of the afternoon. A few Americans entered the town Saturday afternoon and remained there all night. They were driven out early today.

The Germans threw gas shells and shrapnel into the southern part of the town, making it inadvisable for the little party to remain longer.

Allies Cross Aisne and Pursue Huns

Paris, August 4—(Battle Front 1:50 p. m.)—Allied troops have crossed the Aisne at several points between Soissons and Venizel. The German resistance is faltering on the left wing of the Allied advance while it is growing stubborn and desperate on the right wing, where the Germans still retain a foothold on the southern bank of the Vesle between Champigny and Jonchery, northwest of Rheims.

The number of prisoners captured by the Allies during the last two days will thrill the Allied world when announced. The Vesle river, which was flooded owing to the recent heavy rains, has hampered the German rear guards, which were unable to ford the stream and had to fight for their lives. The most of these Germans were killed and the rest were made prisoners.

Fismes is completely surrounded by American troops. The Germans are retaining a foothold in the extreme northern part of the town, where there is house to house fighting. Crack Prussian guard units are offering a desperate resistance to the Americans.

Allied forces in pursuit of the Germans at 3:50 p. m. had passed through veritable charnel houses, strewn with the debris of war. Bodies of men and horses are mingled with broken down vehicles alongside monster ammunition dumps, some partially exploded and others intact. Bodies of Germans found in clusters beyond the range of the Allied artillery indicate that severe punishment was inflicted on the flying columns by the French, American and British aviators.

Both flanks of the German forces between Rheims and Soissons appeared to have been turned at 4:20 p. m. The French have forced a crossing of the Vesle west of Rheims. German reinforcements are reported arriving in the Soissons sector from the north. The Allies continue their advance, according to latest reports, although it is held within prudent limits. The Allied left wing has moved faster than the right and further progress in the Soissons region might expose it to a counter attack from the enemy.

LARGE SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED

With appropriate services a large Service Flag containing sixteen stars representing sixteen members of that congregation now in the service, was dedicated at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning.

Dr. R. C. Pollitt and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sharman, of Memphis, Tenn., arrived here yesterday having motored through. Dr. and Mrs. Pollitt are the guests of her parents, Judge and Mrs. John L. Whitaker, of Third street and Mr. and Mrs. Sharman are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hechinger, of Front street.

The August meeting of the Missionary Society of the Christian Church will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 with Miss Bessie Martin, Forest avenue.

ORDINANCE TO BE DRAWN FIXING WHARFAGE CHARGES

City Will Fix Charges to Be Made For Wharfage on New Greene Wharf—License to Be Granted Tonight.

A meeting of several councilmen was held with Captain Gordon C. Greene, of the Greene steamboat line, yesterday afternoon in the office of Attorney James M. Collins and it was finally decided that City Council should fix the rates of wharfage to be charged.

These rates will be incorporated in an ordinance which will be presented to Council tonight when Captain Greene makes formal application for license before the entire Council.

Besides fixing the rates for wharfage charges this ordinance will provide that all boats operating on the Ohio river will have the privilege of landing at the Greene wharfboat and that no freight will be held for any special boat or boat line.

It appears that this ordinance will cover all of the objections raised by business men to the new wharfboat and will prevent a monopoly and at the same time give the city a reasonable wharfage charge and insure them good service.

TONIGHT IS LIGHTLESS NIGHT

Business men are requested to remember that tonight is lightless night and under the Fuel Administration's orders no light must be used for advertising purposes and no lights shall burn in store windows. County Fuel Administrator Browning says that last Monday night was not observed as it should have been.

C. & O. AGENT ON VACATION

C. & O. DOES RECORD PASSENGER BUSINESS HERE

Some idea of the great amount of business done at this place by the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad company can be obtained from the announcement made last week that during the month of July $15,000 worth of passenger business was done here.

The application blanks and literature of the U. S. Nursing Reserve have come and may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Clarke, Miss Louise Best and Mrs. George Barbour. The enrollment will take place Thursday, August 8, at 10 to 12 a. m. and Friday, August 9, at 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Jean Jordan, well known in Maysville as the producer of the best home talent shows Maysville has ever had, is in the city in advance of Halton Powell's musical comedy show of thirty people which will appear at the Washington Theater all next week.

BETHURUM AND JAMES APPEAR PRIMARY WINNERS

Absolutely No Interest Taken in Primary Election Either in Mason County or the State.

The senatorial primary election held Saturday was probably the quietest election ever held in the state of Kentucky. The people were too much interested in war to pay attention to politics and the political workers were not concerned.

On the face of the meager returns now available, for the election officers are slow in making their returns, Senator Ollie M. James, of Marion, who is now confined to a hospital in the East, has been given an overwhelming majority over his opponent, Pres Kimball, of Lexington, while Judge B. J. Bethurum, of Somerset, maintains a small lead over his opponent, Dr. Ben L. Bruner, of Louisville.

In Mason county the primary was very uninteresting and in some precincts the polls were not opened until the middle of the day because of the inability to secure election officers.

Less than a thousand votes were cast in both parties in the entire county and election officers were so slow reporting returns to Maysville that no definite figures can be announced. On the face of what returns are in hand Senator James has defeated his opponent in this county by a vote of fifty or sixty to one while Judge Bethurum will probably carry the county by a small majority. Only fifteen precincts are reported of the twenty-two this morning and in some instances the election officers have failed to put the vote on the stubs so that any figures announced might be misleading. Less than 600 votes were cast in these 15 precincts, however, and the races in this county seem to be about the same as in the state—James a big winner and Bethurum leading by a few votes.

MR. BROCK'S FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

The funeral of Mr. Anderson Brock, of New Liberty, Ky., father of Mrs. R. G. Knox, of this city, was held yesterday morning at the home in New Liberty. THE DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER

EDITOR AND MANAGER..... CLARENCE MATHEWS

Local and Long Distance Telephone No. 40. Office—Public Ledger Building.

FIGHTING AS THE HUN

The Daily Bulletin, known as the official Democratic organ of Mason county and self styled "the Fireside Journal" makes a feeble attempt to defend County Clerk James J. Owens' refusal to let the printing of the County Ballots out by bid, in their issue of Saturday, and, as is usually the case, when they have no argument whatever, they try to hide the real issue behind a personal attack.

The Public Ledger, despite the Bulletin's dirty thrust, intends to play the game fair.

We criticized James J. Owens as County Clerk in our editorial of Friday and not James J. Owens, citizen. As a private citizen no one respects him more than we but as an official of the county he played politics in the instance we have cited and he cannot and does not deny it. The Bulletin cannot deny it and does not attempt to deny it. Instead they employ the same sort of tactics which have made the Hun so very popular in America just now. They engage in dirty personal insinuations for which the alleged editor of that paper long since established a wide reputation.

The Public Ledger desires to play the game fair. If we desired to fight back in the same manner in which the Bulletin has made its attack, we might do so but it's not our idea of square fighting.

The caption of Friday's editorial—"Party Politics Controls Owens"—has not been denied.

As to the insinuations thrown out by the Bulletin in Saturday's issue we have nothing to say except that the alleged editor of that alleged newspaper is no Lion Tamer.

NOTHING MORE THAN HOG-WASH

The way to measure a people is not by what they claim for themselves, but by what their masters think of them, when they have a master and Germany has one, supreme, arrogant.

Before we entered the war, but while her infamous sea wolves were sinking American ships and murdering American citizens the master of the Germans told them Americans were a nation of bluffers and cowards and wouldn't fight; after the United States entered the war and up until a few days ago that name master had them constantly dulled with daily aspersions on the half-hearted way they were prosecuting their end of the hostilities and the insignificant force they had so far put into France.

Then when the cataclysm came with the Allies striking a counter blow and sweeping onward, the Kaiser made a sudden discovery and a new tact that he regarded "my people" while the Americans acted like cowards and ran away every time a gun roared "my gallant soldiers mowed them down by the hundreds of thousands." That, however, proved somewhat too strong for the Hun stomach, which hasn't much else that is sustaining to feed on these days, and shortly the story was cut down several snakes by substituting the word tens for hundreds. Meantime "my gallant soldiers" continue to do what running backwards there is."

Thus in these deceptions and contradictions we have the master's opinion of his subjects and how dull and stupid he takes them to be could scarcely more forcibly be conceived. They who can believe their enemies are weaklings and cowards, when their master's troops are receiving frequent reverses at their hands and steadily retiring before their onslaughts, must be witness indeed. We would not put such an estimate upon the German people ourselves, but any assumption of theirs that they are a superior, to say nothing of a super race, is mocked by the Kaiser's evident estimate of their intelligence, or rather lack of it.

In this country if any like deception were attempted we would contemptuously toss it aside as "hog-wash."

LIGHTLESS NIGHTS ORDER AGAIN EFFECTIVE

An order of the United States Fuel Administration, effective July 24, provides that the use of light generated or produced by the use or consumption of coal, gas, oil or other fuel for illuminating or displaying advertisements, announcements, or signs, or for the external ornamentation of any building, will be discontinued entirely on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week within New England and the States of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, and District of Columbia, and will be entirely discontinued on Monday and Tuesday of each week in all the remainder of the United States. The order excepts bona fide roof gardens, outdoor restaurants, outdoor moving picture theaters.

Street illuminations in all cities are restricted to the hours between sunset and sunrise, and the amount of public lighting in any city will be reduced to that necessary for safety.

The use of light for illumination or display in shop windows, store windows, or in signs in show windows will be discontinued from sunrise to sunset, and will be discontinued entirely on the "lightless nights" designated by the order.

The Fuel Administration has been advised by the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce that about 500,000 tons of coal per year is used for advertising purposes, including display and show-window lighting, in the United States. Estimates fixed the amount of coal used in advertising light in New York City at 16,000 tons per year.

Birmingham, Ala., is to revive the old-time pillory as a fit punishment for "slackers, pro-Germans, profiteers, utterers of sedition and loafers." Kentucky does not need to revive her whipping post in order to employ it to the same purpose.

The American troops charged with the Australians at Hamel shouting "Lusitania!" The Germans are likely to curse the name and the memory of the dead long before they hear the last of it.

We may readily credit the report that a serious disease has developed in Germany due to the lack of soap, civilization's chief safeguard against encroaching germs.

It is obvious that the tax on a cook that you can keep will be more cheerfully paid.

SPEAKERS ORGANIZED TO REACH COMMERCIAL MEN

Nation Will Be Divided Into Zones, A Speaker to Each Division—Mrs. Pankhurst Aids.

In answer to a widespread and insistent demand, a permanent staff of speakers will be organized by the Department of Labor to explain to audiences of business men throughout the country the centralized war labor recruiting program of the United States Employment Service and other war emergency policies of the Department of Labor.

The work will be an extension of that now being carried on by Nicholas Vander Pyl of Oberlin, Ohio, who for the past month has been explaining the work of the Service before commercial organizations in industrial cities of the East and Middle West. Mr. Van der Pyl has met with a rousing reception all along his route and thoroughly demonstrated the advisability of having other agents of the Department of Labor engage in similar work in all sections of the country.

The personnel and schedules of the speaking staff will be arranged by George W. Coleman, of Boston, director of information in the Division of Education and Information of the Department of Labor. It is planned to have the staff consist of at least six speakers of national prominence, each of whom will be assigned to cover a definite territory where it is felt his services will be most effective. The work will in many ways be comparable to that which the regular Speakers' Bureau of the Department of Labor has already under way, with the difference that while members of the latter speak to meetings of wage earners only, Mr. Coleman's speakers will generally be confined to gatherings of employers.

An exception to this rule will be Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the famous English suffragist, who is now in this country and whose services have been secured by Mr. Coleman for patriotic rallies with the workers in important war plants. Mrs. Pankhurst's achievements in inspiring the munition workers of Great Britain to increased efforts have been so successful that her first organized meetings in this country will also be arranged in munition centers. For the week of August 5 to 12 she is scheduled to speak in several Connecticut plants.

Requests for the services of Mrs. Pankhurst and other speakers should be addressed to George W. Coleman, Division of Information and Education, Department of Labor, Washington.

JAIL SIX SOLDIERS AND TWO WOMEN FOR CONSPIRACY

Portland, Me.—Six soldiers at Fort Williams and two women have been arrested, charged with taking part in a conspiracy to steal thousands of dollars' worth of government property.

The story became public with the arrest of the women—Mrs. Katherine Winters, keeper of a lodging house here, and Mrs. Alliston Gardner of South Portland. They were charged with receiving coal knowing it to have been stolen.

Their apprehension was the result of the arrest here of Karl W. Semenetz, a private in the quartermasters' corps at Fort Williams. He is an Austrian by birth and has been in the regular army eight years. He is charged by the officers at the fort with having been the principal in the sale of coal and other government property which, it is said, has been going on for some time.

He was arrested in civilian clothes as he was about to board a train for Boston. At Fort Williams it was said five other soldiers were under arrest.

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

Nashua, N.H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel no more than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me." DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowens St., Nashua, N.H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Miss Martin.

The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their 40 years experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful.

AFTER SUCCESSFUL YEAR TENNERS BREAK CAMP

Ruggles Campground August 2—Another successful session of the campmeeting is near a close. Since the fine rains of the early part of the week the camp has been at its very best. With temperature just right, a very congenial crowd, and a program so nicely arranged and carried out, this has been just about as fine a campmeeting as has ever been held.

A number of visitors have been with us today. From Maysville has come Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wood and son, Allan Walsh, Misses May Wood and Florence Wilson, Prof. and Mrs. W. J. Caplinger and daughter, Dorothy, Mayor Thomas M. Russell and Chief of Police Harry A. Ort.

Misses Hattie, Ruth, Tillie and Ruth Norris are spending a while in the camp.

Rev. W. H. Davenport left this afternoon to hold a quarterly meeting on the Wallingford Circuit in Flemington county. The pastor of that charge Rev. J. H. Howes came over to the camp for the Superintendent, Brother Davenport, upon whom the burden of supervising the campmeeting this year, will return Sunday afternoon to be at the grand wind-up that night.

Mr. H. Carr Pollitt will leave in the morning for Maysville from where he is at once will be called on the road for his firm. And he hates to go, too.

Not one person has enjoyed the meeting more than he, and is planning to buy a cottage and going in for campmeeting in the right way. There is however, a smile of satisfaction on his face.

In a final test at the game of quoits he and John Brodt beat Carpenter and Richardson three out of five games. And he is getting away while his record is good.

Mr. E. H. Staley of Vancburg was in camp over night last night.

Most of the preachers will leave tomorrow to be at their appointments Sunday. There will be left enough to carry on the services until the close. The evangelist will be given almost complete sway on Sunday. He is abundantly able to take care of the occasion. Dr. Nichols is much in love with the place and has expressed his willingness to come back next year.

The early prayer service was conducted this morning by Rev. John Gross of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Rev. W. W. Shepherd of Willmore, preached at the morning service. Brother Shepherd will be remembered as the former pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church. His former parishioners note the wonderful improvement in his preaching.

At the young peoples' service Rev. John Cheap gave his closing talk to his "school" as he pleased to call the young peoples' service. For one coming unexpectedly into the place of leader of the young people, Brother Cheap has by his original methods, ready with, and his untiring devotion to the young people, made these meetings a great success. Another chief contributing factor to their success has been the young peoples' choir, which has each day rendered a number of beautiful choruses and several splendid numbers. Then the whistling selections given by Miss McClellan have added interest and increased the attendance. Altogether they have been delightful meetings.

At the close of the meeting last night a number of the young folks gathered out in the big woods and enjoyed a marshmallow roast. Misses Muse and Nauman were the entertainers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dodds and Miss McClellan will give a half-hour musical program Saturday evening, beginning one-half hour before the evening service—7:30, to 8 o'clock. This is sure to be the biggest musical treat of the campmeeting. Their generosity with their music is certainly appreciated by the campers.

Another immense audience was out for the evening service. Dr. Nichols continued his series of evangelistic sermons.

After the service and the choir rehearsal the larger part of the choir and the preachers followed a lone lantern way over the far corner of the woods. There a large head of brush had been collected. A big fire was soon burning and the marshmallows were passed around. For a half hour the crowd enjoyed a fine roast party. After all the candy had been eaten, more brush was heaped on the fire, all the crowd sat upon the grass and began singing with Brothers Cheap and Nichols, ghost stories of all sorts and description were told for an hour. If that series of stories could have been preserved and printed they would have made one of the season's best sellers. As the night wore on toward the midnight hour the lantern again led us toward civilization, all glad and happy that the ghosts didn't get us, and with profuse praises and thanks to the Misses Williams who

U. S. BARGES MAY NOT COME UP OHIO RIVER

The confidence, expressed by Cincinnati members of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, that the barges and towboats which the Government is building for use on the Mississippi river would also come up the Ohio river to Cincinnati, received a shock Thursday when the Chamber received a letter written by M. J. Sanders of New Orleans, Federal manager for the Mississippi and Warrior rivers, both of which streams are to be Federal barges.

The communication was sent to M. C. Garber of the Madison (Ind.) Courier, who is anxious to see Federal barges on the Ohio. In the letter Sanders declares that the Ohio river has the handicap of an irregular and insufficient channel, that shippers want permanent and efficient navigation for economic transportation, that they do not care for "spasmodic" service, that the nine-foot stage for the Ohio river is not yet completed and that transportation will first be developed when the stream offers a continuous and navigable channel of sufficient capacity for economic transportation.

The Madison Courier says that this means that "the Ohio river is left out" — that the Mississippi river barges will not come up the Ohio unless Sanders takes a different view.

HAM AND FOR THE WAR

The National Ham and Bacon Show of home cured products which will be installed at the National Swine Show and Exposition September 30th to October 5th, at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, promises to interest Fathers and Mothers who have boys in the Army, in every county in the Nation. Liberal premiums are offered for the hams and bacon to be placed on exhibition, and the exhibitors are asked to donate their exhibits which will be sold at auction during the National Swine Show and Exposition, and the proceeds sent to the Red Cross Organization from which the Exhibitors originate.

The object of this Show is to help the boys in France by helping the Red Cross. The eyes of the world are turned to the wonderful Red Cross Organization,—countless numbers for help and likewise countless numbers that they may give with the assurance that it will all be used for the relief of suffering and the saving of precious lives.

The Red Cross organizations in many counties are now busy securing exhibits of home cured hams and bacon for the National Show, expecting that they will realize a tidy sum from their effort. Quick action along this line is advisable before the choicest hams which have been saved for harvest and threshing time are used. This is an opportunity for the swine producers of the Nation to have a part in one of the many big things that are being done to help win the war.

Recently in London, Mr. Hoover made the statement that the increase in the production of swine in this country was going to make it possible to supply the meat products necessary not only in this nation but for our Allies. The swine producers of this nation are behind increased meat production to the limit, and the National Swine Show Exposition is a part of this program. It is conducted under the management of the National Swine Growers Association, and the Ham and Bacon show promises to be a real feature of this swine industry exposition.

Send to John T. Stinson, director of the National Swine Show and Exposition, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for particulars special ham and bacon entry blanks.

WEAK, RUN-DOWN WOMEN

This Letter Will Show You How Other Women Keep Up Strength

HOW THE RIGHT MEN ARE FOUND FOR THE WORK

Plant That Needed Ten Workers to Keep Going Gets Them in the Nick of Time From Department of Labor.

"Our plant needs ten workers. We need them bad. If we can't get ten of the right sort we'll have to close down."

The speaker was a factory owner. His plant was doing war work for the government. It was a matter of great moment to him to fill those ten vacancies. He had brought his troubles to E. M. Kline, manager of the District of Columbia Employment Service station of the Department of Labor, and they were talking matters over in Mr. Kline's little office in the rear end of the Pennsylvania avenue store room, which is occupied by the station. Did Mr. Kline think he could find ten men?

Mr. Kline thought he could. He got in touch with several of the 450 other offices of the Department of Labor's Employment Service, and within a day he had located a station where there happened to be a surplus of that kind of labor. The next step was to send out to that particular office two men, a representative of the factory and a representative of the Department of Labor. They interviewed the workmen, found them satisfactory, and immediately made arrangements for bringing them to Washington to their new work.

It is a simple enough proposition to arrange for the transportation of ten men from a point in the middle west to the District of Columbia. It is another matter to move 500 men. Yet that is the number which were recently brought a distance of 1,120 miles from a district in the far south to northern Virginia, to help build Camp Humphreys.

One of the contractors and a man from the Department of Labor went down to the southern office where these men were registered and provided for transporting them to the north. A train of eight cars was secured, six for white men and two for negroes. Rotations were one of the first considerations. An initial outfit of 3,600 sandwiches was placed aboard the train, together with coffee, plenty of drinking water, and so on. It was arranged to have the stock of food replenished at various points en route. Four men in each car were picked to act as keepers of the larder, and they were given the somewhat ticklish job of seeing that every man got his share and was kept satisfied and contented during the journey. No intoxicants were permitted, and the car foreman was instructed to keep the men amused and occupied. In order to do this effectively he had to have a touch of the vaudeville artist in him.

When the train reached Alexandria, Va., army motor trucks met the workmen and carried them out through the woods to Camp Humphreys. There they found a square meal waiting for them, and a good night's rest afterward. The next day they began work.

A typical branch office is a busy place. The Washington office is a long-carpeted room opening directly off the sidewalk in one of the busy and accessible portions of the city. On either side of the room are desks, bearing signs which indicate the sort of labor handled by the man in charge. There is a desk labeled "Skilled mechanics and helpers," another for "Common and unskilled labor," another for "Farm service," and other officials take care of clerks, professional men, and hotel and restaurant helpers. All sorts of men apply for positions, and every kind of help is asked for. Side by side on the manager's desk on June 1 lay applications for common labor and a request for a skilled engineer, to whom $8,000 a year would be paid. On the

Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, head of the Slaton Farm of Pennsylvania and a representative of the War Department, spent the early part of the week in Louisville and Frankfort, conferring with Governor Stanley and members of the Commission on the Kentucky training farm for delinquent girls as to possible sites for the farm. It is thought that Mrs. Falconer's recommendation that the Federal Government will duplicate the $30,000 offered by the State for the farm.

"We have visited several locations," said Mrs. Falconer yesterday, "but we have not made a decision as yet. It is our object to find a place on which there are buildings that we can use, as soon as sleeping porches have been added and other necessary improvements have been made. Because of the immediate need of the building, we are eager to find a place that can be used promptly."

Mrs. Falconer stated that girls older than eighteen will not be sent to the farm. Other legislation is needed to secure a suitable place of detention for women older than eighteen.

"It is not wise to hold in the same institution women and girls, just as it is not wise to confine boys and men in the same place. I would never recommend that the Government's money be put into an institution in which both women and girls were to be trained."

Attention was called by Mrs. Falconer to the fact that the full $30,000 necessary for the farm has not been pledged.

"Kentucky women and men have done a fine piece of work in raising the money that has been raised, but the entire sum has not been pledged. Louisville has given $20,000, or will do so, but the State has so far only pledged $6,500. I think that the majority of people are under the impression that the full $30,000 has been accounted for. This is not the case. The Government will duplicate whatever money is given, but will not add more. I believe that $60,000 will be needed to provide the right kind of farm for delinquent girls in this State."

Miss Alice Lloyd, of this city, is chairman of the committee in charge of the state's fund and Miss Lloyd is now giving much of her attention to completing this fund by contribution from all the counties in the state. She announced yesterday that already $28,921 of the $30,000 fund from the state was in hand.

Great Britain and Ireland consume 30,000,000 rabbits as food annually.

second story is the woman's division, where female applicants for positions are received.

"Our business is simply a matter of dovetailing," explained Mr. Kline, who has supervision of the District of Columbia and of several counties in Maryland and Virginia. "We get the calls for help and the calls for jobs and we fit them together. By means of our many officers throughout the United States we are able to keep in touch with the districts where there happens to be a surplus of labor at the moment. In the District of Columbia labor is scarce. To get men we have to go through the population with a fine-tooth comb. But I am glad to say that we have so far been able to handle the local situation and find the needed workers."

In the month of April 4,400 men applied at this office alone. Of that number 4,198 were placed. The others were registrants whose services were not immediately available. Yet the Washington office is one of the smaller ones. In the same month Chicago placed 26,935 workmen; San Francisco 17,119, and Seattle 16,915.

BUSINESS MEN AID BIG DRIVE FOR WORKERS

Through its clearance section and the Public Service Reserve, the employment service is tackling the problem of supplying more machinists and toolmakers to war industries. A special drive for skilled mechanics is now being made by the reserve through its organization in each state. This includes the withdrawal of machinists from non-essential enterprises in a manner which will equalize and minimize any necessary hardship to such industries and communities in which non-essential manufacturing is conducted on a large scale.

The assistance of commercial or organization and the patriotic co-operation of non-essential manufacturers themselves are being enlisted to this end. By localizing far as possible this induction process the maximum of speed and fairness can be achieved, and at the same time the aid of the business, employing, and labor interests of each community may be utilized in the most effective manner. Groups of prominent business men already are considering this problem in Rochester, Hartford, Detroit, and other cities.

A number of large manufacturing concerns with war orders are taking time by the forelock and training skilled mechanics. Plumbers, gasfitters, and similar trades frequently may be speedily trained as machine-tool operators. As there is a large surplus in many of these trades the training of such men would not only increase the supply of mechanics, but give employment to many building trades workers and help to adjust the serious unemployment conditions now existing in that division of skilled workers.

"We have long ago determined that the market does not offer skilled mechanics for employment who are not already engaged on government work, and we therefore are training men in the operations we have to perform in building the apparatus we have on order for the Shipping Board and the Navy Department.

"We would be glad to have intelligent and physically fit men, even unskilled, apply to use for employment. We can take care of a reasonable number of such men through our training department and advance them rapidly through our instruction to a reasonable productive capacity and an advance in rates to them."

SOAP FROM FAT SCRAPS

Economy is developed to its fullest extent by the armies in France and Flanders. In connection with the commissariat is a department for the elimination of waste, and each soldier except in the very front trenches, where it would be impossible, is compelled to scrape his plate for the purpose. This refuse is gathered up and collected at certain points behind the lines, where it is sorted and put to various uses, not the least important of which is the soap used by the Army and Navy.

The art of soap making, which a hundred years ago was known to almost every household, has never quite died out and should profitably be revived at the present time where there are no facilities for gathering waste fats that may be turned into soap on a commercial basis. Directions for soap making are given with the various brands of lye upon the market.

Japanese copper mines yielded 111,562 tons of ore last year, an increase of nearly 30,000 tons from the preceding year.

OLD GLORY AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE

At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, the Colonies, stanch in their belief that a furtherance of their independence on the principles of the Mother Country would incapacitate their love of truth, resolved themselves into Unity which found expression in the issue of bloodshed, and in the adoption of the present standard of right typified by our flag—the Red, the White and the Blue.

After the discouragements of '76 George Washington seeing the necessity of inculcating in the minds of the colonists a stronger sense of duty, journeyed to Philadelphia, submitted his ideas to Mrs. Betsey Ross who quickly and deftly put them into execution. With this emblem of Truth which newly inspired his countrymen with a courage which knew no defeat, the war was more speedily brought to a close.

Other countries realizing and eager to grasp the good evolving from its qualities, have adopted in spirit, though in a lesser degree, the principles for which it stands.

Today in a foreign land "The Stars and Stripes" in bold defiance of wrong will be largely instrumental in again instilling into the minds of the peoples of the world a love of courage typified in the Red; of strength and a strict adherence to honor in the White and a keener sense of justice in the Blue.

Ben. P. Fleming, constable of Mason County, 217 East Lee Street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years, getting them at Wood & Son's Drug Store, and they have been of great benefit. At times, my kidneys have been out of order and I have suffered from a dull, constant ache through the small of my back. The kidney secretions have been irregular in passage, too. A box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve me of the complaint in a short time."

Several Cold Checks Recently Passed On Local Merchants By Young Men Now in the National Army May Be Made Good By Relatives.

Several days ago a young man in the county who has since been called for service and is now a member of the National Army, passed three cold checks on three different local merchants. All of the checks were cashed for the young man as a matter of accommodation. They were drawn on a bank in this county but not located in Maysville and were returned in a few days marked "no funds."

During the period that the checks were in the banks, however, the young man left for a training camp.

The checks have been in the hands of the police for several days but on Saturday they were turned into the hands of the sheriff and an effort will be made to have the young man's relatives pay off the checks and settle the matter.

FAKE REPORTS FLY LIKE WILD FIRE

All sorts of fake reports of the progress of the Allied forces in Europe have been floating about town during the past several days and although some of them have some sort of foundation, they are spread by those handling them until they become almost unreasonable. The city was afloat on last Friday night with all sorts of false reports. Mayor Thomas M. Russell is doing his best to keep in touch with the situation through the best posted newspaper men in the country and when any great development arises he will inform the citizens by ordering a general sounding of the fire bells.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the First M. E. Church, South. A full attendance is desired.

COUNTY SCHOOLS MAY NOT OPEN UNTIL OCTOBER

Farmers Need Work of the Boys to House the Tobacco Crop and County Board of Education Will Consider Postponing School Opening One Month.

It became known Saturday that an effort was being made to postpone the opening of the County Schools one month so that the farmer boys may help in the cutting and housing of the big tobacco crop throughout Mason county.

Plans were to open the County Schools the first week in September but a large number of the farmers who desire their sons to attend the full course of school this winter but who need the services of their sons on the farms during the month of September when there will be such a big rush, have asked the school officials to put off the opening one month.

If the schools are not opened until the first of October the farmer boys can help to house the tobacco crop and get it ready for stripping in the barn.

The labor shortage is going to be felt in this county about tobacco housing time more than it has ever yet been felt and all of the help available is necessary.

Superintendent of Schools Turnipseed yesterday said that the matter had been brought to his attention and that it would likely be taken up by the County Board of Education at their next meeting on August 17th.

GASOLINE IN GUTTER CAUSES FIRE

Shortly after noon Saturday the Fire Department was called to West Second street, First Ward, near the Browning home, where a quantity of gasoline had leaked from an automobile into the street and had collected in the gutter. Some one passing either threw a lighted match or a burning cigar or cigarette into the gasoline and for a while there was quite a blaze along the gutter. The fire was extinguished with chemicals and no damage was done.

OPPORTUNITY FOR COLORED DRAFTES

The Mason County Exemption Board has received an order from Major Henry F. Rhodes, chief of the Selective Service Department of the State of Kentucky in which an opportunity is given to a number of Negro selectives to enter special mechanical training for special duties during the war. This contingent of men from Kentucky will leave on August 15th for Pine Bluff, Ark., where they will enter a training school for a month.

RECORD CROWD AT RUGGLES FOR SUNDAY

(By J. H. R.)

Ruggles Campgrounds, August 4—The last Sunday, the biggest day of the campmeeting is drawing to a close. The day has been fine though a little too warm for a great crowd to feel comfortable in. Never such a crowd assembled on the grounds before. By noon the attendance was up to that of last year which up to that time was considered a record-breaker. During the afternoon they have come in droves. There must be nearly four thousand people here. And a better behaved crowd never visited the grounds. Everybody in a good humor. Of course not all attended church—that would have been an impossibility as the tabernacle will not hold more than a thousand. Our eagle-eyed policeman Mr. Hendrickson gives it as his opinion that it is the most orderly crowd we have ever had. Last year several bootleggers were rounded up on the last Sunday. This year Mr. Hendrickson has not even got a whiff of liquor. It was a great sight to see the automobiles out in the woods—it was full of them.

None of the men in the list made public Saturday by the Mason County Board were in the 1918 class but some of the men who have been reclassified from deferred classes to class one were called.

The men ordered to report on next Thursday were the following:

FIVE LEAVE FIFTEENTH

Five Draftees Are Appointed to Take Special Training at Indianapolis.

Besides ordering thirty Mason county selectives in next Thursday for Fort Thomas, the Mason County Exemption Board Saturday appointed five men who leave here on Thursday, August 15th, for Indianapolis to enter a special training school in mechanics.

These five men volunteered for this special service. There were several other men in the draft who were anxious to enter this special course but as Mason county was only apportioned five men all were refused except those named.

The men who will enter this special training are:

THIRTY SELECTS LEAVE MASON NEXT THURSDAY

Local Board Issues Notices to Men Ordered to Fort Thomas This Week—Men Also Appointed For Special Course.

Thirty Mason county selectives will leave here on next Thursday, August 8th, for Fort Thomas to enter the National Army immediately. They will be brigaded with other companies in a very short time after their reaching the fort and will probably be on their way overseas in a very short time.

The Mason County Exemption Board Saturday afternoon mailed notices to thirty-five men ordering them to appear before the Board here on the morning of the 8th. From these thirty-five men five will be selected as alternates but the alternates are not designated by the Board in their call.

The month of August is expected to be one of the biggest months of the year in calls for young men and this is the first call on Mason county. It is expected that the local board will receive other calls later in the month and that during this month more than one hundred men will go to camp from this county.

At nine o'clock Sunday morning the old electric plant was stopped and the new plant took up the street car load. During all of the day the electricians were busy in all parts of the city changing the distributing system from two to three phase and there was no electric current in the city from nine o'clock yesterday morning until the power was turned into the cables last night after all of these changes had been made.

The plant was built by Cochran Brothers who have incorporated the company in the name of The Maysville Power Company. Mr. J. E. Shrine, of Greenville, S. C., is the engineer. Mr. Shrine has a reputation of being one of the best cotton mill engineers in the South. It is of attractive, modern design and with equipment for the most economical steam and electrical generation. So economical is the equipment that less than one-half the fuel necessary to operate the combined plants of the Maysville Gas Company and the January & Wood Company, will operate the new plant.

In general the station consists of a modern boiler plant with 3 Manning type boilers of 300 horse power each with 750 KW or 1,000 horse power steam-turbine generating units in a separate room, the basement of which, containing condensing equipment, pumps, etc., is on the level with the boiler floor and opens into same. The turbo generators exhaust into condensers, circulating water which is cooled by a shallow spray pond located in front of the building. Water is thus used over and over becoming distilled and no scaling of the boilers is caused.

The re-enforced concrete floor of that portion of the building containing the electrical equipment is from two to three feet above the level of the 1913 flood line.

The boiler room is much lower and level with the yard or the floor of the coal bunkers in the rear of the building. Around the entire building and coal bunkers runs a continuous and unbroken re-enforced concrete wall that will keep out all flood water. To provide for any possible seepage during floods several sump pits connected to an ejector pit in the boiler room are provided.

In the basement is located a 750 gallon underwriters pump which is case of fire distributes the entire contents of the spray pond through automatic sprinkler system into the Cotton Mills.

January & Wood Company has installed motors and has converted all its power requirements to electric motor drive. After having been expanded from 200 pounds to 10 pounds pressure for generating electric power, steam is extracted and sold January & Wood at 10 pounds pressure for their heating and lighting requirements. When there is no demand for low pressure steam in the Cotton Mill all the steam will pass through all stages of the turbine and into the condenser.

The new plant is primarily designed for public service and is a great asset to the city of Maysville. No city of 50,000 inhabitants could have a better plant. Arrangements have been made for increasing its output if necessary and the present building will be able to produce twice as much electricity as the city of Maysville now requires. The plant has been built, however, so that if Maysville should at any time require more than twice the present output, it can be added to and can be made to furnish enough electricity for a city five times the size of Maysville.

The building and equipping of the plant cost thousands of dollars but the machinery was purchased on contracts made in 1916. If they had to be purchased today the plant would cost $33½ to 50 per cent. more.

ELECTRIC CURRENT FROM NEW POWER PLANT FURNISHED

Current From Maysville's Complete New Power Plant Turned Into Wires Last Night—One of the Most Complete Plants in the State.

Current from Maysville's new electric power plant was turned into the great arteries of wire which distribute the power into all parts of the city last night and this morning all of the electricity in the city is being furnished by the new plant, one of the best equipped and most complete electric generating plants in the state of Kentucky.

During all of last week the machinery at the January & Wood Cotton Mills was being put into shape for the new plant to drive it and this morning the spindles turned by the power of electricity.

At nine o'clock Sunday morning the old electric plant was stopped and the new plant took up the street car load. During all of the day the electricians were busy in all parts of the city changing the distributing system from two to three phase and there was no electric current in the city from nine o'clock yesterday morning until the power was turned into the cables last night after all of these changes had been made.

The plant was built by Cochran Brothers who have incorporated the company in the name of The Maysville Power Company. Mr. J. E. Shrine, of Greenville, S. C., is the engineer. Mr. Shrine has a reputation of being one of the best cotton mill engineers in the South. It is of attractive, modern design and with equipment for the most economical steam and electrical generation. So economical is the equipment that less than one-half the fuel necessary to operate the combined plants of the Maysville Gas Company and the January & Wood Company, will operate the new plant.
